THE BOARD OF ESTIMATE IN TROUBLE.

CHARGED WITH VIOLATING THE LAW-WHY IT HAS ENCOURAGED RECKLESS USE OF CITY

Commissioner Asten's opposition in the Board of Commissioner Asten's opposition in the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to the transfer of unexpended balances of appropriations of previous years to the use of department heads for the present year has brought out some interesting revelations. It is now asserted that the practice of making such transfers from previous years is illegal and that the Board of Estimate has exceeded its authority. And if further transfers of this kind are made the Council of Reform is expected to apply for an injunction, and test the legality of the question in the courts.

gal and that the board of Reform is expected to apply for an injunction, and test the legality of the question in the courts.

It has long been the enstorm of the Board of Estimate to make transfer's from one appropriation to another of the same year. There is no question of the legality of such transfers, and to that Commissioner Asten has made no opposition. But during the present year there has been a steadily growing practice of making transfers from unexpected balances of appropriations of former years. This has been carried to such an extent that transfers have been made to the amount of nearly half a million dollars, and appropriations have practically been increased to that extent. For instance, the Board of Estimate last December made an appropriation of $51,000 to cover the expense of repairs to public $51,000 to cover the expense of repairs to public $51,000 to cover the expense of repairs to public $51,000 to cover the expense of repairs to public $51,000 to cover the expense of repairs to public $51,000 to a further appropriation of $75,000 hor supplies and cleaning of such public offices as are under the charge of the Public Works Department. But regardless of the appropriations, Commissioner Thompson went to work making expensive alterations in the public offices. Nearly $20,000 was expended by him in refitting the rooms of the Board of Aldermen. To meet this expense transfers were secured of unexpended balances of appropriations made when Tweed was at the head of the Public Works Department. Altogether Commissioner Thompson has secured transfers to the extent of $55,804, though against the protest of Commissioner Wales, and is now socking a further transfer of $5,500. The Park Department has secured transfers to the extent of $58,804, though against the protest of Commissioner Wales, and is now socking a further transfer of $5,500. The Park Department has defeated it so far. He said year the election, demanded certain places in the Park Department transfer of $5,500. The Park Department of the s cannot transfer or use the unexpended appropriations for 1882 or any previous year for any purpose whatever.

Mr. Asten said that after this expression of opinion by counsel in whom he had great coulidence, he would, of course, persistently oppose any further transfers of the kind; and he did not think that further action would be taken by the Board of Estimate until the Corporation Counsel had furnished an opinion on the subject.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Estimate the Mayor said that before further transfers of unexpended balances were made he would like to have the Controller report whether or not there was any money in the city treasury to represent the unexpended halances, or whether they were more than offset by the uncollected taxes. Controller Grant declined yesterday to furnish for publication the statement prepared on the subject, asserting that it was for his own use and not for the public, it was loaned, however, that there are uncollected taxes for 1882 and previous years to the amount of $16,000,000; and that the alleged unexpended balances amount only to $3,100,000. A large proportion of the uncollected taxes are worthless. About $11,000,000 represents uncollected personal taxes. To furnish money to meet the appropriations for which these taxes were levied over $9,000,000 in bonds has been issued. Hence instead of there being any money in the city treasury to meet these unexpended balances, the taxes collected have all been used, and the city owes over $9,000,000 in bonds has been issued to make up the deficiency.

TROUBLES OF EMPLOYERS AND EMPLOYES.

The Evening Post and The Mail and Express persisted yesterday in their refusal to recognize Typographical Union No. 6 or to pay the advance in wages which the Union demands. The Mail and Express was published as usual. The publisher said that he had sufficient hands now to get the paper out on time, and he will not accede to the Union's demand. The Post was able to get out only a single edition, and while the office was in much better shape than on Friday the paper showed evidences of the strike. Mr. St. John, the publisher, said that he considered the demand whelly unjustifiable, and rather than submit to it the publication of the paper would be suspended indefinitely. He had succeeded in getting a few female compositors. The only fresh demand made vesterday dercary. The new rate was paid at once without a strike. The German papers was on The Sanday Mercary. The members of the Post are much incensed in the action of Kennedy. They say that his brother, Coroner Kennedy, who has an interest in the undertaking business, makes it a practice to send all cases to his own shop, and even to have blank permits for that purpose. Coroner Kennedy says that he was absent when this permit was issued, and knew nothing of it, but justifies the action by the fact that Connell's employer and Mrs. Connell went to his brother and requested that the body should be taken care of by him. "Besides," it was added, "the contractor offered to pay the funeral expenses, and it was thought better he should do so and to have the money from the Post go to his wife." The members of the Post intend to consider the action of Coroner Kennedy, and they say they will probably prefer charges against him to the Governor.

MYSTERY ABOUT A MURDER.

REFUSING TO TELL WHY HE WAS SHOT.

DEATH AT THE ROOSEVELT HOSPITAL OF A MAN

FOUND WOUNDED ON ELECTION EVE. At 10 o'clock on the night before election a police man saw a young man sitting alone on the sidew at Tenth-ave, and Ferty-sixth-st, and holding head with his hands. The officer thought at t at Tenth-ave, and Forty-sixth-st, and holding his head with his hands. The officer thought at first that the man was drank, but when he went close to him he saw that blood was flowing between his fingers and down his face from a pistol-shot wound in the eye. The young man was half insensible from pain, and he lost consciousness before he could be removed to the Roosevelt Hospital. All the information which the police could obtain that night was that the wounded man was Bernard McDounell, twenty-two years old, who had no regular employment, and who lived with his parents on the top floor of the big tenement house. No. 533 West Forty-fifth-st. He had associated with young ruffians, but the police had never found cause to suspect him of crime or to arrest him. None of the inmates of the buildings at Tenth-ave, and Forty-sixth-st, would admit that they knew anything about the shooting. McDonnell remained insensible in the hospital for many hours. The surgeon thought from the first that he could not recover. When he came to his senses, detectives from the Twenty-second Precinct questioned him about the shooting, but he refused doggedly to give any information. Captain Kiliflea learned that before McDonnell was found by the officer at Tenth-ave, and Forty-sixth-st., he had been taken in a coach by some friends to Seventy-second-st, and back to the place where he was shot. The men who accompanied him said that they went at his request, but they would not tell the object of the journey, and they declared that they did not know the name of the person who had shot McDonnell.

The injured man was told last week that he could not hive, and was advised to tell some one who had shot him. He asked that his monther might be allowed to see him privately, and to her he said that he was shot by Richard O'Keefe, a young bricklayer, whose home is in Tenth-ave, and policeren who he was shot by Richard O'Keefe, a young bricklayer, whose home is in Tenth-ave,, between Forty-sixth and Forty-seventhsis. Mrs. McDonnell told Captain Killilea what her son had said, and policemen who knew O'Keefe by sight were sent immediately to search for him. It was learned that O'Keefe had left the city. He was traced to Yonkers, but search was made for him there in vain. McDonnell was firm in his refusal to tell anything more about the shooting. It was said by some of his acquaintances that he and O'Keefe had quarrelled about a young woman, whom they both knew well, and that they came to blows some weeks before McDonnell was shot.

Mrs. McDonnell was summoned to the hospital at 1 p. m. yesterday and told that her son was dying. It was then too late for him to utter more than a few incoherent sentences. He lapsed into insensibility again and died at 1:30 p. m. The police said late in the afternoon that they still were in the dark regarding the hiding-place of O'Keefe. Even if they could capture him, they said, it would be difficult to convict him, because no witnesses of the shooting had been found. Mrs, McDonnell was summoned to the hospital at him, because no witnesses of the shooting had been found, and McDonnell did not make any statement to a coronor previous to his death. A coroner was summoned to the hospital after McDonnell was dead.

THE POLLUTION OF THE PASSAIC. The Hudson County Grand Jury made a present-ment yesterday, calling attention to the pollution of the Passaic River. The presentment sets forth that the factories on the several streams between that the factories on the several streams between Paterson and Newark cause a large quantity of refuse to be emptied into the river; but the great source of pollution is the sewage of the city of Newark. All the filth of that city is emptied into the Passaic through the sewers, which have their outlet at the river along the whole water front of the city. Some of these sewers are less than a mile from the Jersey City Water Works at Belleville, and the filth discharged from them is borne by the flood tide up the river at least a mile above the works, and with the water is pumped into the reservoir at Belleville and thence distributed through Jersey City and Bayonne. The Grand Jury recommends the city of Newark to build an intercepting sewer which will carry the sewage into Newark Bay, and thus cease endangering the health of the people of Jersey City and Bayonne.

James Meyers, seventy years of age, was a witness in the suit in Brooklyn of James 8. Morton against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to recover $25,000 for alleged malicious prosecution. The plaintiff was arrested on a charge of embezzlement made by a superintendent, but afterward acquitted. In the trial Meyers was asked on cross-examination on Friday by ex-Judge Arnoux, of counsel for the defendants, who it was that gave him $30 in money which Mr. Morton tendered to the company to cover any alleged deficiency. Meyers answered that he had promised deficiency. Meyers answered that he had promised not to tell, and considered the promize binding. The Court ruled that the question was material, and asked the witness to answer. As he still refused Justice Cullen said he should send him to jail for contempt. Still the witness was stabborn, and the Judge sent him in charge e an officer to the Raymond Street Jail "until he thought best to answer the question." The commitment does not exceed thirty days. INCIDENTS OF THE LAST WEEK.

THE CONDITION OF THE MARKET AND THE MOVE-MENTS FOR NEW REAL ESTATE EXCHANGES.

MENTS FOR NEW BEAL ESTATE EXCHANGES.

No new features marked the dealings in real estate last week. Business remains dull, but prices show no disposition to yield. The outlook of the market is not promising, but there have not been any developments which should discourage holders of property, while dealers maintain that there is a possibility of an active movement toward advanced figures at any time. Excessive building has been checked, the mortgaging of realty nowhere is excessive, the steady inquiry for property reflects the constant growth of the city's demands for office and house room, and the absence of speculation that is at all unsound shows a conservative condition of affairs that is gratifying. A good illustration of the real-estate situation was afforded by the auction sale last week of the vacant lots belonging to the estate of the late Governor Morgan. To a large extent the purchases made were speculative; the property was bought to be held by strong brokers or operators for higher prices. Yet no insignificant part of the parcel passed into the hands of persons who will immediately improve it. Lots as far up as Eighty-second-st, and Ninthave, are to be improved by Richard Deeves, the buyer, at once, and other buyers, it is safe to say, will early build upon the purchased land. Taking the estate as a whole, it will be developed more rapidly for occupation than when it was held in one block by Mr. Morgan, who refused to sell it at current prices and yet declined to put improvements upon it. The sale of the Madison-ave, Sixty-ninth and Seventieth st. lots was especially successful an parcel of land for which the Governor paid nearly $600,000 in 1874 bringing over $300,000, an advance from a similar sale in 1881 of $100,000. The Central Park west lots were sold at prices that show a gain to the estate, but the other lots were sold at a loss from the prices of ten years ago, but at figures fully up to the present market.

Encouraging reports are made of the progress of the two movements for the establis No new features marked the dealings in real estate

In reply to Mr. Chesebrough's summary of the advantages of the old Produce Exchange as a site, brokers say that it does not follow that because the site is rejected a new building will have to be erected at whatever location may be decided upon. It is understood that a selection may be made seen of a building above Wall-st, which will require few alterations to fit it for the purposes of an exchange, while at the same time furnishing office rooms for brokers and anctioneers who wish to be close to the central place for transacting business.

The Kirtland estate has sold No. 115 East Twenty-first-st, for $40,000. George S. Bowdoin has bought No. 39 Park-ave, from E. H. Ludlow & Co. for $110,000. No. 606 has been purchased by Mrs. Margaret V. S. Wolfe for $57,500. No. 767 Eighth-ave, in flat house and store) was sold to Hyman Sarner for $76,000. No. 108 Grand-st, has been bought by Leopold Stadecker and Jacob Emsheimer from Simon Goldenberg, for $75,000. Isaac Harlem hought the property at the southwest corner of the Bowery and Prince-st, for $70,000. Eight lots in Ninety-seventh-st., west of Central Park West, have been sold for $1,000 cach. The police carried his body to the Church Street Station and sent for Coro Church Street Station and sent for Coroner Herrman, who issued a certificate of death. When informed of his death Landry's relatives went to the police station at night and removed the body by permission of the coroner. They could not get a hurial permit from the Health Department that night, but they were permitted to take the body to Jersey City without a proper permit by exhibiting the Coroner's certificate. Afterward they obtained a burial permit from a New-Jersey official and no record of Landry's death was sent to the Bureau of Vital Statistics in this city. When he succeeded in making his way to the rear end of the hall, he saw one of the men scaling the fence and fired a shot at him. The officer went down in the cellar and found a large quantity of plated jewelry buried in a hole. Officers Miller and Pearson went to the house later and recovered some more of the jewelry. They also captured John Dosner, of No. 43 Railroad-ave., whom Miller recognized as the man at whom he had shot. The jewelry had been stolen from a Baltimore & Ohio freight car.

It may be a matter of serious interest for the of the Democratic members Legisla-

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC BOND ISSUE.

Argument was had yesterday before Judge Wallace, in the United Stages Circuit Court, on the me-tion for an injunction in the suit of Durant Da Ponte against August Belmont, Henry Villard, Frederick Billings and others and the Northern Pacine Railway Com-pany. John E. Parsons, E. Ellery Anderson and B. F. Downing appeared for the plaintiff, and Joseph H. Choate, Arternas H. Holmes and George Bray were among the counsel for the railroad company. Mesers, Anderson and Parsons made arguments for the plaintiff, and Mesers. Holmes and Choate for the defendants. The object of the injunction is to restrain the proposed issuing of mortgage bonds. The plaintiffs allege that the bonds cannot be issued under the act of Congress, as they are to be used for other purposes than the construction of the main line and the Portland branch. The defendants declare the issuing of the bonds hawful, and that the plaintiff bought stock only for the purpose of brinsing the suit. The meeting of holders of preferred stock to vote on the proposed issuance of bonds is to be held on November 20. The arguments made were the same in substance as in the Pield and Bradley suits recently argued in the State courts. Judge Wallace reserved his decision.

LOWER PRICES IN CHICAGO.

THE EFFECTS OF COLD WEATHER AND LARGE ARRIVALS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] CHICAGO, Nov. 17 .- All the markets settled down to-day, and wheat is $\sigma$ and corn $78.00\$ cent per bushel lower than twenty-four hours ago. The chief trouble is that the railroad managers are predicting large re-ceipts for next week and the immediate future. The local " bulls " are afraid that the market is to be swamped with wheat, and are selling their holdings. Some of them are even leaving their party. The railroad men predicted the same thing last week, but were only half right. The re-ceipts were for the week 683,000 bushels of wheat, and over 1,300,000 bushels of corn. The shipments of wheat were 400,000 bushels less than the receipts; the shipments of corn were 400,000 bushels larger than the receipts. The "bears" have been all the week getting a little the advantage both about the corn and the wheat pits. The great storm and the freezing weather forced upon the most stout-hearted of the "bulls" the conviction that any hope of lessening

the local stock of wheat would have to be abandoned fo the winter.

It has for a long while been hoped against hope that there would, on some day, be a great fleet of vessels loaded with wheat and sent out. There will be no great fleet of vessels now sent out here, loaded with anything. Those that start from this until the close of navigation start at their peril, with expensive crews and high rates of insurance. The local wheat crowd will take for granted from this on that there is to at be least 10,000,000 bushels of wheat in the clevators this winter, and perhaps 12,000,000 bushels. Whoever attempts to advance prices will be at this disadvantage. Whatever aid is to come from manipulation will be in favor of the "bears." While there will be no clique to attempt a sque-ze with the elevators at the start half filled with wheat, the presence of so much grain will encourage short seiling. Elevator men predict that by February there will be as much wheat in town as the elevators can handle, and the elevator capacity is now 22,000,000 bushels, and their working capacity about 16,000,000 bushels. To-day's trading was apparently altogether between local scalpers and was without significance. The November outlon closed at 95%, December at 95%, January at 96%, May at 104%. The closing was weak and the predictions for Monday are lower prices.

Corn was even weaker than wheat and very much duller. November stopped at 48%, December at 47%, May at 50%, Of the 150,000 bushels of corn which have been lost on the lakes within the past week, the larger share has belonged to J. B. Lyon. It has all been fully insured.

Provisions were a little lower to-day, apparently simily because the grain markets were weak. Pork dround. this winter, and perhaps 12,000,000 bushels nsured.

Provisions were a little lower to-day, apparently sim-Frovisions were a little lower to-day, apparently simply because the grain markets were weak. Pork dropped 5 cents, lard and ribs 5 cents. There were only 16,000 hogs at the yards and they were all taken. The receipts for the week were 215,000. It is estimated that there will be 250,000 in next week. All the packing houses have been open during the week, and slaughtering has been active. The speculation in products has increased, and some big traders, including Hutchinson, have taken large lines.
